Discovery Clause --- If archaeological artifacts (i.e. metal, china, historic ceramics, pottery sherds, flaked stone, bone, colored glass, etc.) are found during earth disturbing activities, cease work immediately, protect the discovery and contact the State Historic Preservation Office (SHPO) at (505) 827-6320.

If human remains are found, work must cease immediately in the vicinity of the remains pursuant to state law. Secure the area to protect the remains from further disturbance and contact the local law enforcement agency (sheriff's office or city police) with jurisdiction over the area. Law enforcement will contact the Office of the Medical Investigator (OMI) and the SHPO. If the OMI determines that the remains are without medicolegal significance, the OMI will terminate jurisdiction to the SHPO. The SHPO will, with the assistance of a professional archaeologist, determine if the remains can be left in place and protected or if they need to be excavated by an archaeologist holding permit to excavate unmarked human burials.
